WE NOMINATE

Elizabeth Hoon Cawley, formerly a high school history teacher, a college professor and a college dean and now President of the Borough's Board of Education for a second successive one-year term. At a time when the volunteer seems to be vanishing from American public life, and when the Princeton Area—like communities throughout the United States—is faced with the hard necessity of expanding long-overburdened high school facilities, this 48-year old native of Clay City, Ill., personifies the rare spirit who deems service a privilege and is also convinced that nothing can be half as important as the soundest possible education for the citizens of tomorrow.

A resident of Princeton for the past 16 years and the mother of a Sixth Grader in the Witherspoon School, Mrs. Cawley ranks high among the best qualified individuals ever to have held the board presidency, a position which means 800-1,000 added "work-hours" per year and includes such responsibilities as directing the preparation of an annual operating budget currently approximating $814,000. She has known secondary schools and colleges as a pupil, teacher and administrator, has established a scholarly reputation in the field of history and in more recent years has been an officer in the Elementary Schools' P.T.A. as well as an active teacher in the First Presbyterian Church's outstanding Sunday School.

Mrs. Cawley, the daughter of a Methodist minister and a graduate of the Sioux City, Iowa, public schools, divided her undergraduate years between Morningside College (Iowa) and then Northwestern University, from which she was graduated "in history" in 1926. After two years of history teaching in Sandwich, Ill., she moved on to Yale to specialize in "Anglo-Colonial Commercial Relations in the 18th Century" and to win her Master's Degree in 1930. A year on the faculty of Lewis and Clark College, Portland, Ore., and two terms of studying educational personnel administration at Columbia University preceded intensive work in the University of London's Institute of Historical Research.

It was in London, while qualifying for her Ph. D. and writing a doctoral dissertation subsequently published under the auspices of American Historical Association, that she met her husband, Robert Ralston Cawley, Professor of English in Princeton University. Mrs. Cawley, an accomplished violinist and also a devotee of painting until forced to curtail such interests by her home-making duties, was prior to her marriage Dean of Mary Baldwin College, 114-year old women's college in Staunton, Va. Just two years ago, the spring following her election to the Board of Education, the Princeton University Press published her second major work, The American Diaries of Richard Cobden, a venture that merited financial support from the American Philosophical Society.

For her unselfish devotion to this community's best interests; for insisting, even in the face of ever-rising pressure, that membership on the Board of Education "is the greatest privilege a person could have;" for her understanding of the problems which must be solved if the quality of Princeton public education is not to be diluted; she is Town Topics' nominee for

The Problems of Christianity. A Sunday Evening Forum, designed to bring the community together to consider some of the problems facing Christianity today, will be held over a period of four consecutive weeks starting February 28. Directed by a committee of 13 lay leaders in Princeton churches, the meetings will be known as the "Sunday Evening Series" and will take place in the assembly room of the First Presbyterian Church.

Each program, starting at 7:30, will consist of a half-hour of hymn-singing, a 30-minute address by a guest speaker, followed by informal discussion of the points thus brought forth for consideration. Joint sponsorship is being provided by Princeton churches of Protestant denomination, the Princeton University Chapel, Princeton Theological Seminary and the Westminster Choir College

Dr. John A. MacKay, Seminary president and moderator of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., will open the series with an address on "A Christian Approach to Freedom." The speaker on March 7 will be Mrs. Eunice H. Carter, New York attorney and a member of the United Nations' Commission on Human Rights.

Professor Douglas V. Steere, Professor of Philosophy at Haverford College, will speak March 14, while Professor V. E. Devadutt of Serampore College, India, will give the final address on March 21. He is in Princeton as a visit-

Open and Shut

Monday is Washington's Birthday. In contrast to the stores, which traditionally remain open, the post office, banks and parking meters will be closed for business.

Patrons will have no luck in attempting to do business with the post office or the banks, but the meters are always receptive. For the record, they may be by-passed on New Year's Day, Lincoln's and Washington's Birthdays, Memorial Day, July Fourth, Labor Day, Election Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. The income the borough derives on these days from habit-driven motorists has never been estimated, but it would probably break a large number of piggy banks wide open.

ing professor at the Seminary and University.

Dr. J. Douglas Brown, Dean of the Faculty at the University, heads the steering committee which planned the series, dedicating it to promoting "public discussion of the beliefs, program and problems of Christianity today." Other members are Mrs. E. Harris Harbison, Charles A. Hurford, Professor Paul L. Lehmann, John N. Lukens, John T. McLoughlin, Wesley J. Marshall, Professor Donald A. Mathis, Leonard F. Newton, Chester R. Stroup, Professor George F. Thomas, Mrs. Lewis C. West and Dan D. Coyle.

Churches and organizations sponsoring the series with the Choir College, Seminary and University are the First Baptist, First Presbyterian, Mt. Pisgah Methodist, Princeton Methodist, Second Presbyterian, Trinity Episcopal and Witherspoon Presbyterian Churches; the Proctor, Wesley and Westminster Foundations.

Bingo Vote in April. New Jersey's 567 municipalities will exercise local option privileges at a mandatory special election on primary day, April 20, to determine whether they will allow the so-called minor forms of gambling within their boundaries. Such activities will be legal the following day if the municipality consents.

The state Senate and Legislature this week passed three non-partisan bills legalizing bingo and raffles in any community voting "yes" on the local option question. The measures, which Governor Meyner has said he will sign, were called for by the constitutional amendment passed by the state's voters in November by a 3 to 1 margin.

The three bills (which are expected to undergo a number of modifications) are:

1. An act establishing a five-member control commission having investigation powers; operators of bingo and raffles would be required to submit financial reports periodically; the commission to be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate, with not more than three members selected from one political party.
2. An act limiting bingo prizes to $250 for a single game and $1,000 for a single session; players to be over 18 and persons conducting the games required to be

3. An act limiting prizes at raffles to merchandise and, with a few exceptions, an organization could not offer more than $5,000 worth of prizes in a single year; so-called 50-50 giveaways in which the winner receives half the proceeds were also legalized in a restricted form which is expected to be changed.
School Boards Elect. Mrs. Fredrick H. Nicoll will continue to serve as president of the Township Board of Education and George W. Conover will be the board's vice-president until February, 1955. They were re-elected at Monday's reorganization meeting.
Two days after Mrs. Nicoll and the three members elected to the board with her (see page five) had taken office, no word had been received from the State Department of Education on the request for a recount made by one of the defeated candidates, William F. Gale, who polled 611 votes to 619 for Mrs. Nicoll, filed a petition for a recount because he felt that a number of ballots in his own district were declared void when they might actually have been tabulated in his favor.
Committees named at the meeting include Mr. Conover and William M. Karch, property; William L. Wilson, Dr. William S. Carpenter and Mr. Karch, finance; Mrs. Francis J. Darke, transportation; Mrs. Paul S. Smith, publicity. Plans to reactivate the instruction committee call for the appointment of Dr. J. Donald Butler, James A. Perkins and Mrs. Smith.

School Liquor Ban Urged
Adoption of a bill outlawing the drinking or transporting of liquor at all interscholastic athletic contests was urged by a series of witnesses appearing before a State Senate committee this week. They asserted that drinking by teenagers at sports events was a primary cause of rowdiness, vandalism and other forms of juvenile delinquency.
The proposed bill would classify as a disorderly person anyone guilty of the offenses and would make a violation subject to a maximum fine of $50, or 30 days in jail, or both. As originally introduced, the ban would have applied also to intercollegiate events, but this provision was removed in the belief that it would have led to defeat of the entire measure.

another 12 months as president of the borough Board of Education, with Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen as vice-president.
Committees named are Dr. Homrighausen, chairman of instruction, assisted by Cyrus C. Young, Bryan V. Moore and Mrs. Edward H. Roberts; Roger J. O'Kane, chairman of property, assisted by Dr. Jeremiah S. Finch, Dr. Henry Abrams and Irving W. Mershon; Mr. Mershon, chairman of finance, assisted by Mr. Young and Mr. O'Kane.
Meeting on Children. "How Does Princeton Meet the Needs of Its Children?" will be the subject of an open meeting Wednesday under the sponsorship of the Princeton Council of Community Services. The meeting will start at 8 p.m. in the conference room of Woodrow Wilson Hall, Washington Road.
Charles Jubenville, director of education at the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at Skillman, will open the session with a half-hour talk on "Taking Inventory of Community Resources." Five workshops on related subjects will follow his address.
The conferences and their leaders will be: "Meeting the Special Health Needs of Children," Mrs. Harold Gulliksen, chairman; "Meeting Recreational Needs of Children," Mrs. Arthur S. Jensen, chairman, and Mrs. John V.A. Fine, secretary; "Strengthening the Home and Family," Mrs. Darrell Johnson, chairman; Mrs. Ansley Coale, secretary; "Meeting the Needs of Handicapped Children," Dr. Peter Putnam, chairman; "Services for Delinquent and Pre-Delinquent Children," Dr. Warren G. Findley, chairman; Mrs. John A. Muller, secretary.

New Faculty Housing Plan. When a member of the University faculty retires—as he is required to at age 68—he gives up his life's work. If he has been living in University-owned property, he gives up his house as well.
To bring an end to such a complete break with a pleasant past, that can stretch across as much as four decades, Princeton has devised a new faculty housing plan which is taking physical shape even before its details have been formally announced. The site selected is a gently-sloping area reaching toward the shores of Lake Carnegie between Harrison Street and Broadmead.
Life occupancy is the basic premise on which the plan is founded. Ownership may be held as long as desired, with the University ready to repurchase the house at any time on the faculty member's request.
All single family, detached dwellings, the houses are being built by the University. When ready, their availability is expected to alleviate the shortage of homes for faculty members with large families, freeing a number of those of the size that have stood in the Broadmead-FitzRandolph Road area since shortly after the turn of the century. Dr. J. Douglas Brown, Dean of the Faculty, is credited with devising the plan.
The owner relationship between University and faculty member has been described in this fashion by President Harold W. Dodds to the board of trustees, according —Continued on Page 4

Birds of a Feather. These are rare birds without feathers, except the ones you paint on yourself. Wine and Game now has the birds of America Series Kits, and if you stop at 6 Nassau you'll find mallard duck, scarlet tanager, goldfinch and herring gull.

These are pre-carved balsa birds, in a kit that contains materials for eyes and legs, oil colors and varnish, a drilled mounting block and sandpaper. A complete kit is only $1. The mounting blocks included in the kit are twigs and slices of log, so that the finished bird looks like a real native. The kits are made and assembled in Bucks County, by the way.

Service Improved. The University Laundry and Dry Cleaners' "Same Day Service" has been shortened for your benefit. When first instituted last year, it offered delivery by 5 o'clock of any shirts or dry cleaning brought to 30 Moore Street by 9.

University learned that the housewife often found it a bit inconvenient to hustle the children off to school, fit in a couple of necessary household chores and still make the 9 o'clock deadline. So, it has now set its wheels in motion geared to an "in by 10, out by 4:30 schedule." It's already working smoothly, Manager John Archer reports.

Junior Vogue. A trip to either of Lillian Bellows' shops will provide you with a complete survey of young spring clothes. In the accessory collection, we found in both shops a set of collar pin and cuff links fastened to a card that's shaped like a little shirt. Links and pin are cloisonne, pearl, gold—many different designs and materials. In the Sub-Deb Shop at 6 Chambers, we found scarves exquisite enough for a princess, in pale pink silk with gold line design, or narrow silk ties in palest pink and blue, some with dangling pearl, others with gold.

For a girlish slumber party, buy your daughter a plastic-lined seersucker case containing robe, pajamas and scuffs, for $7.95. Another pajama set features a matchstick print shirt and tapered knee-length pants in bright red or black.

The princess line is paramount in dresses for Sub-Deb sizes. We saw them in linen and a linen-like fabric, mostly in navy with demure white edgings, or saucy Roman striped banding.

Cottons are striped, plaid, or seersucker, in ice-cream shades, one with short thick white fringe around its small collar and cuffs.

Suits for this age are as well-cut as mother's. Grey flannels, fitted; white fleece, very short like a bell-hop's jacket, with giant shawl collar—a "Sugar jacket" they call it.

Raincoats are designed for all-weather wear. We liked a white one with a lining in bright green and blue plaid. The wide, full shawl collar again, lined with the plaid. Hat and umbrella match.

Around the corner at 20 Nassau, the princess style has been cut down to toddler size. Some coats are a kind of linen, for $13.95 and up. One is an impressive mauve-colored shantung taffeta.

Sister dresses for toddlers and 7-14's, might be dimity print, or cotton and pima. You'll find pima again on a palette dress with artist's brush and paints around its white collar. Look at the black background dresses, too: colored bare feet - prints on one black dress, deep red roses on another, with rose-red can-can petticoat under it all.

Little boys' suits are well-tailored, and priced from $10.95. We saw them in tweed (beige with brown pants), seersucker, flannel and a Palm Beach in all-white.

Two Tootals. On the racks at Elise Goupil, 217 Nassau, two linen dresses in Tootal linen struck us as being especially noteworthy. One is designed in larger women's sizes, and we saw it in two lovely colors: heliotrope and a soft faded blue. The other, in standard sizes, is emerald green (navy, or turquoise, too) with dart-shaped slashes around the waist-band in a contrasting linen.

Harper's Bazaar is advertising a dress in dacron and cotton with short Dolman sleeves. Its round collarless neck opens with a six-inch slash down the front banded in red on the white dress and navy on the faded blue. A neck scarf goes with it for $29.95. (No ironing on this fabric, you know).

Another dress you'll find in Harper's is made up in prints (including a handsome Paisley) or plain. The dress is a sheath—we saw it in navy—with a V-neck, front and back. The jacket has three-quarter sleeves, a high neckline with small collar, and a wide flowing bow.

to the Princeton Alumni Weekly. The houses will be "deeded to a non-profit mutual corporation and sold for life occupancy to Faculty members. The University is providing the land and all improvements. It is also providing in the form of loans 75 per cent of construction costs.

"The individual Faculty member will pay the remaining 25 per cent and will receive for this investment stock in the non-profit corporation. This stock will give him and his wife lifetime ownership of the house. He will provide for the upkeep of the property and pay real estate taxes, interest on the loan by the University and a participating amount to offset the depreciation of the property.

"Upon giving up the house, which he may do at any time at his option, his stock will be bought back by the University at full cost. The total annual expenses will be substantially lower than those now prevailing for equivalent housing elsewhere in the Princeton community."

Alumni Day Plans. Princeton's annual mid-winter Alumni Day will be held Monday, Washington's Birthday, with several hundred Princetonians and their families expected to be present for the occasion. In contrast to former years, no nationally-known figure will speak; rather, the University's guests will hear brief reports from five members of the board of trustees on various phases of the "Princeton program."

Those to be heard include Dr. Fordyce B. St. John '03, chairman of the executive committee; Dean Mathey '12, finance; Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen '19, curriculum; Ernest C. Savage '19, undergraduate life; Dr. George G. Finney '21, health and athletics. The luncheon in Dillon Gymnasium will also feature a report on the status of Annual Giving, for which a million dollar goal had been set, and presentation of the Pyne Honor Prize, highest undergraduate award.

Drivers Fined. Fourteen residents of the Princeton area were among the score of drivers fined Tuesday by Magistrate Paul R. Chesbro. Those in "court, with the charges against them and the amount paid included:

J. Harold Vest, 194 Nassau Street, failing to obey an officer's signal, $15; Robert Harlow, Jr., Quaker Bridge Road, leaving the scene of an accident, $30; Edward E. Hayes, 40 Prospect Avenue, careless driving, $25; Richard Holland, 144 John Street, operating a vehicle without a driver's license, $35; George F. Preston, 661 1/2 Witherspoon Street, permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car, $55.

Fined for operating cars on which the plates had expired were Miss Henrietta Williams, 200 Stockton Street; Richard H. Williams, 512 Ewing Street; Robert E. Cullen, Jr., 63 Jefferson Road; Donald R. Hamilton, Snowden Lane; and Mrs. Alexandra Krug, Carson Road, each of whom paid $5. Mrs. Doris B. Yarrick, 48 Linden Lane, paid a $5 fine for this offense, while Henry Guerlac, 10

Princeton Avenue, was fined $3 in court costs.

Child Model Warning. The Professional Photographers Association of New Jersey, through its secretary, Orren Jack Turner, has issued a warning to parents throughout the state that the so-called child model swindles recently exposed in New York are also prevalent in New Jersey.

The practices exposed are those of duping parents into paying for expensive photographs and model catalog listings for their children with promises of modeling jobs. Few of the catalogs were published and reputable agencies ignored them, according to the New York World-Telegram and Sun, which also said that the fraud has reportedly cost parents more than a million dollars a year.

The photographers association has advised: "If you are approached by a neighborhood solicitor, we recommend that you check first with Borough Hall for his permit to do business in Princeton, and second with a reputable local photographer, whose business ethics have been examined by the State Association.

"An honest photographer cannot object to being investigated before you do business with him," the warning concluded. Princeton members of the association are Mrs. Maria Williams of The Dark—Continued on Page 5

Mr. Perkins will fill an unexpired two-year term.

Unemployment Up

Unemployment in the Trenton area has risen six-tenths of one percent in the past 25 days, Freeholder Edward A. Thorne reported this week. He gave the current figure as 5.3% and called it "uncomfortably close to the 6% point which would designate the area as a surplus labor market."

As director of the Mercer County Industrial Commission, Mr. Thorne is making every effort to have the Young Spring & Wire Corporation plant returned to production, following cancellation of its Army contract for ammunition of a type no longer required. The result was immediate lay-off of 525 workers, and Mr. Thorne has wired Senators Smith and Hendrickson and Congressman Howell in an effort to help the company gain a new ammunition contract.

The latest figures, Mr. Thorne declared, "show a rapid decline in employment since last summer when the Trenton area was rated as a balanced labor market."

March of Dimes Dance. A dance to benefit the March of Dimes has been planned for this Saturday from 8:30 to midnight at Avalon, 59 Bayard Lane, under the sponsorship of Nassau Aerie 2732, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Committee chairmen include P. B. Silvester Jr., tickets; Joseph Rauch, entertainment; William Anderson and Walter Emann, decorations, and Peter Fuimenero, refreshments. The Community Players have donated the use of Avalon, and local merchants are contributing prizes to award at the dance.

Rescue League Seeks Funds. A report on the activities of the Princeton Small Animal Rescue League during the past year in the Princeton area has been made public by the organization.

The League announced that a total of 292 animals were cared for at a cost of $1,623. Contributions from the Borough of Princeton and Lawrence Township amounted to $500 each for the care of 186 animals in the two municipalities. Actual expenses were $97 in excess of the sum received.

The League stated that "78 animals were brought in from Princeton Township at a cost to the organization of $375, but unfortunately the Township Committee does not feel it can support this cause." Twenty-eight animals were taken in from other surrounding communities at a cost of $151.

In addition, the organization stated that it "appreciates the support given it by the Borough and Lawrence Township, but would not be able to function if it were not for the contributions from loyal friends." The three-year-old league further stressed the need for additional support from the community to maintain its work. Membership is $2 a year.

Officers elected for 1954 are Mrs. Frederic A. Milholland, president; Mrs. Josef Weber, vice president; Mrs. Emlen Hare, secretary, and Mrs. Allan Stephens, treasurer. Elected to the Board of Trustees were Dr. Russell Edmonds, Mrs. W. Gould Jones, Mrs. Charles F. Mapes, Miss Emily Myrick, C. Crawford Sprigg, Mrs. P. MacKay Sturges and Paul G. Tomlinson.

Frelinghuysen to Speak. Congressman Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, Jr., will speak on "The Prospects for Eisenhower's Legislative Program in the Present Session of Congress" at a meeting of the Princeton Republican Club on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the Chambers Street firehouse.

Mr. Frelinghuysen, who represents New Jersey's Fifth District (Somerset County, northeast of Princeton Township), was elected to Congress in 1952. His recent proposal of a joint Senate-House investigating committee to take the place of the three committees now operating has received nation-wide attention.

A graduate of Princeton University in 1938, Mr. Frelinghuysen is a member of a family long associated with Princeton and state affairs. His address will be open to all residents of the community.

Hospital Nominations. Five members of Princeton Hospital's Board of Trustees, whose terms expire with the 34th annual meeting of the Princeton Hospital Corporation on Monday, have been nominated for re-election to three-year terms on the board.

ed by B. Franklin Bunn for the following board members: Mrs. Donald W. Griffin, Albridge C. Smith 3rd, Edgar S. Smith; Dr. John H. Wallace Jr. and George C. Wintringer. Also nominated was Norvell B. Samuels, who has been completing the term of the late Curtis W. McGraw, former Hospital president who died last September. He is scheduled to fill an unexpired term of one year.

At the Washington's Birthday meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Assembly Room of the First Presbyterian Church, the new by-laws of the Hospital which have been approved by the board will be presented for adoption. Copies of the amended by-laws may be obtained in advance through the administrator's office at the hospital.

Red Cross Captains Named. Plans for the 1954 fund drive of the Red Cross to be held Sunday, March 7, are being completed by the Princeton chapter of the organization. The campaign, which has a goal of $39,065, is under the vice-president of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company.

Arthur R. Wengel, chairman of the residential division of the drive, has announced the appointment of the following co-chairmen: H. H. Jay, Cedar Grove Road; Mrs. Oscar Sussman, 149 Westcott Road; Mrs. Herryman Mauer, Wheatshaf Lane; and Mrs. Clarence Spencer, 213 Moore Street.

Morven Use In Budget. Governor Meyner's budget submitted on Monday included a proposed appropriation of $67,575 to fit Morven as the state's first executive mansion. The governor thus left up to the legislature the decision on whether the Stockton Street home will become his official residence.

Former Governor and Mrs. Edge, who purchased the property (once the home of Declaration Signer Richard Stockton) ten years ago for eventual presentation to the state as an historic shrine, expect to occupy their new home on Elm Road in April.

Governor Meyner commented that he would be content with a room, but felt it would be embarrassing to invite governors of other states to New Jersey and offer them a hotel room. If the legislature decides to vote the funds for renovation, there will also be an annual $17,000 item in the budget for maintenance.

Kennan to Lecture. George F. Kennan will deliver four public lectures on "Basic Factors in America's Foreign Relations" next month as the University's Stafford Little lecturer for the current academic year. The lectures will be given in Alexander Hall on March 23, 24, 30 and 31.

Mr. Kennan's appointment marks the 55th anniversary of the establishment of the lectureship. Former President Grover Cleveland began the lectures in 1899 and continued until his death in 1908. Other internationally-known figures who have delivered the lectures include Theodore Roosevelt, Albert Einstein, Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes, Henry L. Stimson, John Foster Dulles, Gen. George C. Marshall, Justice Felix Frankfurter and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Mr. Kennan, who has returned to the school of historical studies at the Institute for Advanced Study, is a former ambassador to Russia and considered one of this country's most important authorities in foreign affairs.

Panel Discussion. "Freedom, Education and Public Policy" will be the subject of a panel discussion to be held by the Princeton Township P.T.A. Tuesday evening at 8 in the Valley Road School.

Among the participants in the discussion will be Miss Ethel Smith, former supervisor of elementary education in the Trenton public schools; Professor Gordon Turner of the History Department at Princeton; and Professor Gabriel Almond of the Center of International Studies at Princeton's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

In commemoration of Founder's Day, Mrs. Jan Rajchman, the organization's president, will report

Princetonian for Smith

Miss Wendy McAneny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McAneny of 59 Bayard Lane, and a senior at Smith College, is a member of Smith's four-woman team which is currently the champion of NBC's "College Quiz Bowl."

Smith upset Brown-Pemhroke, which had scored seven straight victories two weeks ago and last week routed a team from Indiana. The program (WNBT, 660 on the dial, at 6 p.m. Sunday) matches two colleges each week in a contest calling for quick answers to factual questions.

This Sunday Smith is expected to defeat Washington and Lee, with the University of Chicago scheduled for the following week. Princeton will field its team on March 7.

Obituaries

Dr. Bliss Perry, one of this country's most noted educators and at one time a professor at Princeton, died February 13 in Exeter, N. H., at the age of 93.
He taught at Princeton from 1893 to 1899, when he was associated with Woodrow Wilson, to whom he devoted a chapter in his recent autobiography, "And Gladly Teach."

to serve as editor of "The Atlantic Monthly" for ten years. He later became one of Harvard's most popular lecturers in literature and wrote many books and articles. He is survived by a daughter; a son, Dr. Arthur Bliss Perry, headmaster of Milton Academy and husband of the former Emily Stuart; and a brother, Dr.
Lewis Perry, former principal of Phillips Exeter Academy.

Miss Eva Hollmann, 39, died
February 15 at the home of her brother, Dr. Werner G. Hollmann of 10 Bank Street, after a lengthy illness. Miss Hollmann was a former resident of San Francisco.
She is survived by two other brothers and three sisters, all of Germany. Services were held on Thursday with interment in the Princeton Cemetery.

Edward L. Kirk, 18, died February 14 of injuries sustained when an automobile in which he was hitch-hiking crashed into a tree on Roosevelt Boulevard in Philadelphia. A private first class, he had just completed basic training at Camp Pickett, Va., and was believed on his way to visit the family of Delbert Wible of 208 Alexander Street, with whom he had lived for a number of years. Arrangements were made for a military funeral.

News of the Theatres

New Theatre? The Community Players have charted a course which they hope will lead to resolution of present difficulties and establishing the organization in a firmer position among the town's activities. Tentative plans call for eventual construction of new 300-seat theatre to give the organization a practical home for the first time.

Avalon, the Players' present home which has proved to be a financial burden and unsuitable for productions, remains on the market. The proceeds from its sale will probably be used towards the construction of the projected theatre.

Fund-raising activities will open with a combined bazaar and outdoor production of a Shakespeare comedy. The five-day affair has been scheduled for late in May and the production will be either "Midsummer Night's Dream" or "The Taming of the Shrew."

Casting for the April production of "Harvey," Mary Chase's comedy success, has been completed with the exception of the six-foot performer needed for the title role. Mrs. Blackwell Smith, Herbert McAneny, Sandra Devinat, Mrs. Frank Callahan, Dorothy Swerdlow, Lorin Zissman, William Duryee, Henry Siegle, Mrs. Gordon Knox, Thomas Potter and Richard Congdon are now in rehearsal. The comedy is under the direction of Mrs. Herbert McAneny, and Mrs. Knox has charge of the costuming.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Installation of new equipment which will give Princeton its first look at CinemaScope and stereophonic sound next Thursday has necessitated several changes in the accustomed Playhouse schedule. "Rob Roy" will have two matinees next Monday (1 and 3 p.m.) and none on Tuesday. The theatre will be closed all day Wednesday to complete installation. Manager Richard W. Knight has announced that "How to Marry a Millionaire" (starting March 3) will follow "The Robe" as the second CinemaScope product at The Playhouse.

The Long, Long Trailer (Thurs.-Sat.) has a story that defies description, being mostly a series of slapstick events performed by some experts at the game, the TV team of Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, assisted by Marjorie Main and Keenan Wynn. The whole thing hinges around a honeymoon tour of the country during which Lucille and Desi compete in wackiness, to highly amusing effect. In color.

Rob Roy (Sun.-Tues.) is Walt Disney's third venture into the field of historical romance and comes out even better than "Robin Hood" and "Sword and the Rose." Plenty of adventure and good Technicolor photography make this a lively entertaining tale of the embattled Clan MacGregor of Scotland in the early 18th century. Richard Todd and Glynis Johns are the stars.

"Pecos Bill," a 25-minute musical comedy cartoon with Roy Rogers and good ol' Trigger, and a Donald Duck cartoon are also on the all-color program. The special matinee schedule for Monday and Tuesday is noted above.

The Robe (Thurs.-Tues.) hardly needs comment. CinemaScope is a really remarkable thing to see regardless of the product in question, and this work of biblical fiction is a cut above the usual Hollywood performance. It's still biblical fiction, but handled with somewhat greater taste and restraint than usual.

The Lloyd C. Douglas novel has been cast with Richard Burton as Marcellus, Jean Simmons as Diana, Victor Mature as Demetrius, Michael Rennie as Peter and Jay Robinson as Caligula. All in all, a spectacle not to miss.

THE GARDEN

Walking My Baby Back Home (Fri.-Sat.) has a minute story of the opera career vs. girl-and-popular music variety, but it features enough entertainment to satisfy those who don't care. It has Donald O'Connor, Janet Leigh, Technicolor, plenty of songs and jazz of sorts, and a number of noted musicians. O'Connor excels with his combined song-dance-comedy talent.

in this shop are more formal than some. We liked a pale pink sweater over a dark grey nubby cotton sheath. The sweater is banded with the grey. Also in gold and navy.

Small sizes and wallets will like the dresses at about $11.95. In this collection we found cottons like the dark grey sleeveless one with full-blown roses and a spangle or two. Another has a three-tiered gathered skirt, no sleeves, and a small bowed collar.

Lilacs for Spring. We mention lilacs first because one of the colors Martex uses in a new spring towel is a deep lilac pink that would cheer any towel rack. These towels—among others—are at The Town Shop, 67 Palmer Square West. You may order Martex, Wamsutta, or Calloway, including the giant Luxors by Martex, and you may have them in about 18 different colors. Lilac, walnut (deep brown), nutmeg (light brown) and a wonderful shade called azalea.

Prices begin at $13.50 for a set of two washcloths, two towels and two bath-towels. This price includes a monogram, but a two-color monogram costs a bit more.

New designs and fabrics in blanket covers and bedspreads include a provincial print banding a plain fabric. Monogram in the center is cut from the same print. Why not buy a seersucker for a child's room?

Prices begin at $11.75 (monogram additional) for a single, up to elaborate covers and spreads with deep lace borders, flowered satin ribbon bindings and so on. The pastel challis ones are lovely, and so are the nylon. You can have dust-ruffles made, too, and pillow shams.

In the linen department, we found luncheon sets with eyelet embroidery around the edges, in maize, white, green and pink. And a splendid mat of rayon and plastic. It looks like burlap, with a narrow fringe. Priced at $1.25.

Keep Daddy Dry. Tell him about the rubberized water-proof (not just shower-proof) raincoat made in England and displayed at Princeton Clothing, 17 Witherspoon. It's tan with a poplin finish outside. For the top, a Byrdcloth rain hat in taupe with narrow brim for $2.95. The raincoat is $12.95.

Van Heusen has a gingham sports shirt that comes in collar sizes and sleeve lengths, with button-down collar. For $3.95.

Ties by Bolany are made of wool challis, some in a Paisley (a large Paisley), others in small, widely-spaced prints. Most of the background shades we saw were sage greens and greys. The price is a uniform $1.50.

Some designer for Swank apparently felt skittish one day. The result is a pair of cuff-links with two black footprints on the gold. The footprints on Lillian Bellows' dress were bare feet—these are shod, but whether they are male or female we do not know. If you'd rather not have footprints on your cuff, look at the links with sailboats or horse's heads.

Swank now makes short tie clasps for the narrow tie. Another new piece is a pin that goes right through the tie. And there's a very long pin that a tie could slide right through. (Looks fine to us for a lady's scarf.)

lier, Lucille Ball, Eve Arden and Ann Miller.

The Little World of Don Camillo (Wed.-Thurs.) tells a charming, warm story of a spirited rivalry between a village priest and a communist mayor for the hearts of the people in a hamlet by the Po River. Fernandel is wonderful as the priest, ministering to his charges and competing with Gino Cervi, the mayor. The Italian import has English subtitles.

War Arrow (Fri.-Sat.) has the cavalry using Seminole Indians to fight Kiowa Indians, but otherwise it's fairly regular western stuff. Renegades, raids, competition for the widow, command rivalry. Texas outdoors, wrap-up attack on the fort, Technicolor. Jeff Chandler is the hero and Maureen O'Hara the lady in question.

McCARTER THEATRE

"Stalag 17" continues its run at McCarter with evening performances Friday and Saturday and a Saturday matinee at 2:30. Tickets are still available and may be obtained at the theatre box office. The production is the first in a series booked for this spring by McCarter's new manager, Richard Skinner.

The cast for the comedy-drama hit about life in a prison camp is headed by George Tobias in the role of Stosh, the barracks clown. Robert Shawley is being seen in the role of Blondie, which he originated on Broadway, and other featured players are Albert Dagnall and Carmen Filpi.

MURRAY THEATRE

Theatre Intime has announced that its new policy of reduced ticket prices will go into effect with its production of Shakespeare's "Henry IV, Part I" opening March 4 and running through March 13 at Murray Theatre. Tickets priced at $1.60 and $1.80 for week nights and $1.80 and $2 on weekends will go on sale shortly at the University Store.

According to Intime's publicity sources, the production will be aimed at interpreting the play "the way Shakespeare intended it to be performed (by making the character of Prince Henry the heroic one the playwright envisaged), instead of following some interpretations which make it "Falstaff's play."

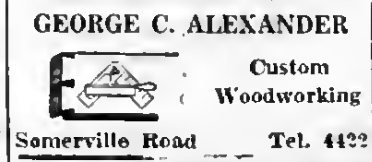

The cast will include Ben Piazza (Prince Hal), John Wilders (Falstaff), William Nicolson (Hotspur), Daniel Seltzer (King Henry IV), Eileen Heupel (Mistress Quickly), Mrs. Gay Carlin (Lady Percy) and Betsy Babbitt (Lady Mortimer). The production is under the direction of Mr. Seltzer and Adie Dietz is serving as producer.

Coming Events. The Massie Patterson Carib Singers, a noted troupe of West Indian singers and dancers, will present "Calypso Carousel" on March 10 in McCarter under the sponsorship of the Vassar Club of Princeton. The performance will benefit the club's scholarship fund, which each year helps to send a girl from the Princeton area to Vassar.

The Carib Singers present a Calypso show that is authentic in every detail, from the songs, dances, performers and costumes to the primitive musical instruments. Tickets for the program will go on public sale March 1, while information concerning the advance sale may be obtained by calling Mrs. B. W. Bates (tel. 1477-W) any day after 2 p.m.

An interesting program of Dutch, German and Scandinavian compositions will be offered at a recital by Ralph H. Fox next Sunday, February 28, at 3:30 in Clio Hall. Mr. Fox, associate professor of mathematics at the University, gathered the works while on a Fulbright fellowship in 1951-52. The recital will be open to the public without charge.

Sports in Princeton

"Doubleheaders" Scheduled. The climactic portion of Princeton's winter sports season begins this weekend, with a sizeable volume of activity scheduled for the home front. On each of the next three Saturdays, hockey in the afternoon and basketball in the evening are billed for Baker Rink and Dillon Gymnasium.

This week, it's Harvard in both sports (2:45 and 8 p.m.). On the 27th, Brown will be here in hockey and Yale in basketball; the first Saturday in March (and the last of the winter season), both Dartmouth teams will invade the Tiger's lair. In addition, a Washington's Birthday hockey game with Yale will provide action in the rink Monday afternoon, starting at 4.

Backs to the Wall. Both Princeton teams in these sports will go into battle with the knowledge that another defeat will mean the end of any title hopes they may be cherishing. Still and all, the fact that they have even a long shot at first place by mid-February is much to their credit. When the season began in late fall, Princeton was not figured to be a contender in either sport.

Pennsylvania remains the favorite in the Eastern Basketball League to retain the title it won last year, having replaced a staggering Cornell quintet which led in the early stages of the race but is now confronted with a heavy road schedule after losing twice at home. In hockey, Harvard remains unbeaten and will be a clear choice for the Pentagonal crown if it trims the Tigers this weekend.

Cornell Upset. As anticipated (but without ability to pick the exact time), Princeton's up-and-down basketball team sharply reversed its form once more and bagged itself a stunning upset. The Tigers deserve a large share of credit for their ability to knock off Cornell at Ithaca last week, with the 71-68 triumph in sharp contrast to road games lost to Harvard, Columbia and Dartmouth.

Bud Haabestad had a great night, collecting 25 points on nine field goals and seven fouls (out of the nine shots awarded him.) The total of 43 points he made last week—18 of them against Columbia—landed the sharp-eyed Nassau junior in first place in the league's individual scoring totals. What's more, his closest pursuers are Lou Murgo and Ed Tooley of Brown who have played in one more game than Haabestad had by the end of last week.

Haabestad's season total hit 300. Chances are he will break Princeton's all-time record of 359 next Thursday night, February 25, when the Tigers play their return game against Pennsylvania in Dillon Gym.

But if Haabestad was high man against Cornell, the play of able POSITION SWITCHED: Seeking to increase the Princeton hockey team's scoring punch, Coach Dick Vaughan has shifted veteran defenseman Derek Price to a forward position.

John Easton also was instrumental in securing the victory. He came up with 18 points for his best total of the year and snared a large share of the vital rebounds that make the difference in a close game.

The Orange and Black also improved its foul shooting in marked fashion. After making only 16 of 36 against Columbia (for 44%), the team dropped 21 of 31 against Cornell for 68%. Outshot from the floor, it won in this department.

The Ithacans also were charged with 20 personals to 15 for the Tigers, who were up against an outfit that had won 11 of 15 games and was backed up by a partisan crowd of 6,000 in Barton Hall. Princeton's defensive play was also superior to Cornell's, helping to achieve its first victory at Ithaca in four years.

It was 16-15 for Princeton after the first quarter but Cornell hit on 50% of its field goal attempts in the first half to take a 37-35 lead at the intermission. The Red held a four-point bulge at 46-42 midway through the third quarter, but a Princeton rally sparked by Enston and sophomore John DeVine gave the Tigers a 53-48 margin as the round ended.

Cornell fought back to a one-point deficit at 57-56, only to have Princeton widen the gap once more as the clock began to run out. The Tigers soared in 68-61, fought off a desperate home-team rally and then clinched the verdict when Dick Frye converted one of two free throws for a three-point margin with four seconds left.

Penn. meanwhile, was thumping Columbia, the only team to beat the Quakers in their first seven games, and took a firm hold on first place. Minus Ernie Beck, the Red and Blue still has a solid punch in Bart Leach, Dick Heylman, and Joe Sturgis and is strictly the team to heat in the stretch run.

Columbia Defeated. Columbia had one of its poorest nights here in the past decade last week, losing 66-47 to Princeton and trailing midway in the final period by 26 points. The Lions lack height, but worse than that, are short a player who can average ten points a game for them.

Cappy Cappon's forces led all the way after the opening minutes, holding a 17-9 margin at the end of the first quarter and a 34-22 advantage at the half. Their defensive play was extremely sound and they drew only nine personals, undoubtedly one of the lowest totals recorded in an Eastern League game since the war.

Yale and Penn. A trip to New Haven Monday to play Yale's zone-loving, possession-conscious quintet will be followed by Penn's visit here next Thursday. The Elis have improved after a slow start, and have gained the services of two players out with injuries during the first part of the season.

Jim Plecas and Spencer Schmitt have bolstered them considerably and they will battle the Tigers down to the wire for a first-division berth. They won by three points over the Orange and Black on their own floor last winter.

Harvard Strong. Harvard's able hockey team will test the Tigers to the utmost in the rink Saturday afternoon, with the game called for 2:45 following the freshman encounter between the two colleges. The Crimson is undefeated in Pentagon play, having trimmed Dartmouth twice and Brown once without undue difficulty.

Doug Manchester, Scott Coolidge, Joe Crehore and Captain Norm Wood have been providing the scoring punch for the Cantabs this season. Last year, they broke even with the Tigers, losing 3-1 here and winning by a 4-2 count on their own ice.

A sudden-death overtime goal at 4:54 of the extra period defeated a hard-battling Princeton team at New Haven Saturday night. Yale took the 2-1 verdict after overcoming stubborn play by the visitors, whose scoring punch cannot quite match their defensive ability.

The Nassau skaters were off to a 1-0 lead at 6:41 of the second period, John Butsch counting on an assist from Charlie Pratt. That was the extent of their offensive production, however, Yale deadlocking the issue eight minutes later and then punching home the winning tally in the midst of a scrimmage in front of the Princeton cage.

Stiegman Appointed. A man who won awards in four different sports while in college will now coach a fifth at Princeton, R. Kenneth Fairman, Director of Athletics, announced this week. He is Johnny Stiegman, a member of the coaching staff here since 1946.

Stiegman graduated from Williams with the Class of 1944 after winning awards for football, lacrosse, hockey and swimming. He rowed while in high school as a member of the able Buffalo Rowing Club, and it is this background blended with his all-around coaching versatility that has led to his appointment as coach of the 150-lb. crew here.

Stiegman is a member of the varsity football staff, on which he is active as a line coach and defensive strategist. He is freshman hockey coach and assistant to Dick Vaughan, and now takes over on a year-round basis with rowing in the spring.

He succeeds Art Sultz, who resigned following completion of his studies last spring at the Seminary. The Nassau lightweights were national champions last year and will defend the Joseph Wright Cup in the regatta here next May.

PHS Notches Seventh. Paced by sharp-shooting Bob Montgomery, Princeton High School's basketball team erased a 25-20 first-half deficit and went on to record a 54-49 decision over Bordentown Military Institute last week at Bordentown.

Montgomery poured in 16 points to spark the second half surge which carried the Little Tigers to their seventh victory in 13 starts. He totaled 22 markers to top all scorers and was followed by teammate Don Wood with 16.

Little Tigers Swamp Hun. Princeton High School's basketball team defeated the Hun School cagers Friday afternoon, duling the Johnny Huns their tenth straight setback this season, 65-34, in the Seminary gym.

Jim Lavan salvaged some consolation for the Red and Black, which has yet to record its first victory of the campaign, by taking the scoring honors with 20 points. Bob Montgomery paced the victors with 19 markers, aided by Brad Dinsmore, a recent graduate from the jayvees, with 13.

The Little Tigers took the lead at the outset of the fray and held command throughout to notch their eighth triumph in 14 outings. The victors relied to a 35-11 intermission advantage before the Johnny Huns' shooting improved in the second half.

This Friday the Princeton quintet will journey to Trenton to engage Hamilton High at 8 p.m. The following Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 the Little Tigers will tangle with Lawrenceville on the latter's court.

Lavan Stars Again. Hun School's basketball team preceded Friday's 65-34 loss to Princeton High with its ninth setback of the season, a 41-29 defeat at the hands of George School in the Seminary gym.

The New Jersey Poll
PUBLIC FIRMLY OPPOSES
USE OF AMERICAN G. I.'S
IN WAR IN INDO-CHINA

How do rank and file voters across the state of New Jersey feel about sending American combat troops to fight with the French against the Communists in Indo-China?

Results of a statewide survey just completed by New Jersey Poll staff reporters show that more than 4 out of every 5 voters in the state are opposed to the idea of sending American soldiers to take part in the fighting in Indo-China. Fewer than 1 person in 8 say they would approve.

In other words, those who are opposed to sending American soldiers to fight in Indo-China outnumber by a margin of about 7 to 1 those who would favor such a step.

When New Jersey Poll staff reporters asked a representative cross-section of the state's voters: "The United States is now sending war materials to help the French fight the Communists in Indo-China. Would you approve or disapprove of sending U. S. soldiers to take part in the fighting there?"

The results:

Approve	12%
Disapprove	83
No opinion	5

Highlight of today's survey findings is that opinion on the question of sending American boys to fight in Indo-China is highly uniform among all segments of the state's population examined. For example, at least 4 out of every 5 in each population group examined say that they would be opposed to sending U. S. soldiers to take part in the fighting in Indo-China.

In no single group examined do as many as 16 in each 100 say that they would be in favor of doing so. These groups include men and women, and people in all city sizes, age groups, occupations and political parties.

This uniformity of opinion on the matter of sending American troops to Indo-China is best shown in the breakdown of the vote by political party affiliation.

	Rep.	Dem.	Ind.
Approve	13%	12%	10%
Disapprove	84	82	83
No opinion	3	6	7

During the past ten days, the question of sending combat troops to Indo-China has been up for discussion in the nation's capital. Secretary of Defense Wilson just last week stated that the United States is not sending American combat troops to Indo-China at the present time.

He did, however, say that the U. S. Government is sending American technicians to handle the highly technical equipment that has been sent the French in their struggle with the Communists—and that these technicians will remain in Indo-China until French forces can be trained to handle this equipment.

Over the past eight years, France has waged war against the Communists in Indo-China. During that time, France has sent nearly a quarter of a million French troops to Indo-China. And roughly one-fourth of France's annual defense budget is expended in the fighting there.

Independents Favor Democrats. Results of another New Jersey Poll statewide survey show that among the state's Independent voters, those who lean toward the Democratic Party outnumber by a 6 to 5 margin those who lean toward the GOP. The same 6 to 5 margin holds true as of the present among rank and file Independents in their choices for Congress (House of Representatives).

Each Independent voter in today's statewide survey was first asked:

"As of today, do you lean more to the Democratic Party or to the Republican Party?"

Democrats	42%
Republicans	35
Neither	23

A comparison of today's survey findings with those reported by the New Jersey Poll on October 8 shows that the number of Independents who say they lean toward the GOP has dropped 9 percentage points; whereas the number leaning toward the Democratic Party has jumped 2 percentage points. At the same time, the number who say they lean toward neither party has jumped 7 percentage points.

Answers to a second question in today's survey show that New Jersey Independents express greater preference for Democratic Congressional candidates than they do for GOP Congressional candidates.

"If the elections for Congress were being held today, which party would you like to see win in this state—the Democratic or the Republican Party?"

Democratic	54%
Republican	46

Today's results on the above question are all the more significant when it is realized that in the 1952 Congressional Elections, Independents preferred GOP Congressional candidates over Democratic Congressional candidates by a margin of 16%.

four points in the initial stanza, doing a little better in the next three periods. Jim Lavan again shone for the Red and Black, garnering 19 markers for the game's top total.

After Wednesday's meeting with Bayley-Ellard at Madison, the Red and Black will journey to Hightstown to encounter Peddie Saturday at 2 p.m. Next Wednesday at 3:30 Hun will take on Morristown on the latter's court.

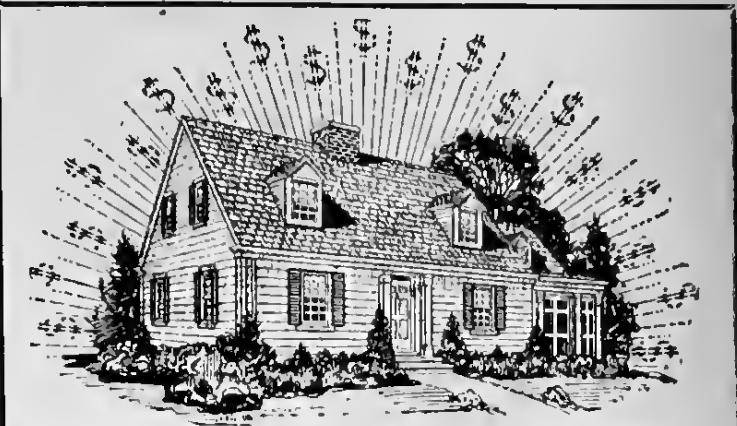

PCD Takes Two. A two-day New England trip proved highly successful for the Princeton Country Day School hockey team, the Blue and White blanking the Choate School Juniors, 7-0, and then coming from behind to defeat the Taft Lower School, 5-2.

Co-Captain Lance Odden was the big wheel of the PCD attack, scoring five times against Choate and adding a goal and two assists in the Taft game. Austin Sullivan and Joe Delafield accounted for the other goals against Choate.

Taft was away to a brief lead before Country Day evened the score before the first round ended, going on to ring up three more goals in the second period. Co-Captain John Martinelli scored three times against Taft, with Patrick Rulon-Miller accounting for the other.

Lester Tibbals of the faculty coached the team, which was also accompanied by Headmaster Henry Ross. PCD will put its 3-0 record on the line this Thursday afternoon in Baker Rink against New Rochelle.
